

REID WILSON

Editor-in-Chief of National Journal's The Hotline

Reid Wilson is editor-in-chief of National Journal's The Hotline, Washington's premier daily tip sheet on politics, campaigns, and elections. A rising star in politics, Wilson stands in good company. Previous editors-in-chief of The Hotline include Chuck Todd, NBC News' political director and chief White House correspondent, and Amy Walter, the political director of ABC News. Wilson regularly contributes analysis of the national political environment to National Journal Daily, National Journal Magazine, 2012 Decoded, and his weekly column, On the Trail. He frequently appears on MSNBC, CNN, and C-SPAN and is a political contributor to Sirius-XM Radio. He was also recently crowned the "greatest political mind of our time" after winning Comedy Central's political Indecision Game, in which he defeated 20 of the nation's greatest political pundits and reporters from the Washington Post, NBC News, Fox News, Salon, POLITICO, and Roll Call.

Quick, confident, and full of energy, Wilson's enthusiasm for political analysis is contagious and easily caught by his audience. He is an expert in his field and has a near-perfect callback of political figures and statistics, making his presentations very visual and analytical. Exclusively represented by Leading Authorities speakers bureau, Wilson addresses politics, campaigns, elections, and the media.

The Hotline. In addition to the political happenings themselves, Wilson and The Hotline focus on the coverage of the coverage of elections and politics, each day printing off every newspaper in the country and reading through more than 500 papers. From this incredible amount of information, they put together a summary of the day's notable news. This depth is why The Hotline is a must-read source for those concerned about politics.

Before National Journal. Before becoming editor-in-chief, Wilson was editor of Hotline On Call, Hotline's political blog. He has also served as a staff writer at The Hill newspaper, where he covered Congress, politics, campaigns, and elections. He has covered the Supreme Court, the Federal Election Commission, and top political races as they develop across the country.

Reid spent the 2008 election cycle authoring a popular political blog at RealClearPolitics.com, where he covered the presidential caucuses in Iowa, the primaries in New Hampshire, and several debates around the nation. Also during the 2008 cycle, Wilson hosted a nationally-broadcast political talk show on XM Satellite Radio, on which he hosted the top newsmakers, reporters, and analysts in the nation.

In 2006, Wilson covered polls and polling for The Hotline. He has also written for The New Republic, Arizona Capitol Times, The Seattle Times, and Seattle Post-Intelligencer. He has appeared as a guest analyst on dozens of radio shows across the nation. A native of Seattle, Wilson graduated from The George Washington University.

Updated WMS 10/12